Course Description:
The course provides an introduction to budgeting and financial control as a means of influencing the behavior of nonprofit organizations and public agencies. Concepts include the budget cycle, taxation, revenues and expenses, municipal finance, control of expenditures, purchasing, debt management, and productivity enhancement. Students learn about the fiscal problems that managers typically face, and how they seek to address them. Students also gain experience in conducting financial analysis and facility with spreadsheet programs. Some case materials will focus on government agencies and nonprofits that work in the area of sustainability. Students will closely follow specific governmental agencies or nonprofit organizations through the budget process. A computer recitation section is an essential aspect of the course, as it teaches students to use spreadsheet software to perform practical exercises regarding budgeting and financial management. A budget is a tool to communicate with decision makers within an organization. To be effective leaders, you must understand and be able to read and analyze a budget and other financial documents. At the end of the class, you will not be intimidated by government or nonprofit budget and financial documents. You will be able to tell a story by looking at budget documents and will be able to create your own budget story for organizations where you will work and lead. This syllabus will likely change throughout the semester based on circumstances and ongoing local and national budget news.

Grading and Expectations:

• Grades - Your grade will be determined through the following assignments:

  3 Budget Memos – 36% (or 12% each)
  Oral Midterm – 20%
  Final Exam Presentation – 25%
  Participation and Recitation Assignments – 19%

• Late Assignments – If you have reason to need an extension on an assignment, please come to me as early as possible. I will be willing to reassess due dates on an individual basis within reason. However, if an assignment is late without prior notice, you will be penalized two points per day on that assignment. No assignment will be accepted more than 15 days after the due date.

• Absences – If you must be absent, please let me know as early as possible. If you are absent from a lecture without an excuse more than once, two points will be deducted from your overall numerical grade score for each absence up to a maximum of 10 points.
